

Children's Climate Changemakers Workshop

(Ages 8-12)

Wednesday April 22nd starting at 2PM

Acton Memorial Library

Join us for a fun, hands-on workshop that introduces kids to climate change through storytelling and art! We'll begin with a screening of the puppet show podcast We Have Something to Say, featuring three lovable characters – a moose, a green sea turtle, and a honey bee.

After the show, children will dive into an arts and crafts activity to explore where these characters live and what they eat. Together, we'll learn how climate change is affecting their homes and food – and what that means for our planet.

Creative, engaging, and age-appropriate, this workshop helps kids connect empathy, imagination and environmental awareness.

Come celebrate Earth Day with puppets!
